BEST PRACTICE – II

1. Title of the Practice :

Community Service Learning Through Blood Donation

2. Objectives of the practice :-

The objective of the practice is to engage the community to create closer ties between the institution of higher education and communities they serve with the result to deepen the quality of learning and discovery

3. The context :

The community-based learning combines traditional classroom instruction with community service to enhance the learning of the students and civic participation. The college's focus for community improvement and engagement connects academic programmes with community service so that students, faculty, and community partners can forge linkage between theory and practice, between knowledge and action and between the resources of the institution and the community development.

4. The practice :

Mahamandleshwar Shri Krishnanandji College of Commerce, Bharuch regularly organizes blood donation camps since 2000. During the last 10 years, the college has collected more than 1000 units of blood in collaboration with Blood Bank and Red Cross Society. The Institution aims at ensuring easy accessibility and adequate supply of safe and quality blood and blood components collected from voluntary blood donors to those in need. The blood is collected, stored, and transported under optimum conditions with the help of the Red Cross Society. The blood transfusion is always done under the supervision of trained medical practitioners and trained staff. The blood collected is available to people irrespective of their economic or social status.

5. Evidence of Success :

The practice has made an impact on the community, students and teachers. Donated blood is being utilized by people and institutions not only in Bharuch city but also in neighbouring areas. The voluntary blood donation camps have resulted in a great impact on the students as well as faculties. The impact is also apparent in personality development, moral education, and civic responsibility and is reflected in reduced indiscipline and an enhanced sense of the responsibility amongst the students towards the institution. It has also created a sense of managerial ability amongst the students for organizing such types of events in the college.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required :

Non-availability of the latest technology for operating the blood transfusion services, lack of extensive awareness programmes is the major obstacles.

The institution has adequate resources to organize blood donation camps. Voluntary contribution, grant for Red Ribbon Club and NSS grant is utilized for organizing such camps.
